Yom Kippur Services Shortened In Europe; Plight of Polish Jewry Told By Writer

Yom Kippur Services Cut Short By Rabbi Hertz; Warnings Given

By VICTOR M. BIENSTOCK

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

LONDON—Dr. Joseph H. Hertz, Chief Rabbi of the British Empire, ordered Jewish High Holiday services drastically curtailed because of the war and issued instructions to synagogues on what to do in the event of an air raid during the services.

In case of an air raid, ministers were to advise those living near a synagogue to return to their homes and to announce to the others the location of the nearest raid shelters. It was also suggested that large notices be posted at entrances to synagogues listing the nearest shelters.

"For obvious reasons," the instructions state, "old men, women and children should say their prayers at home on the High Festivals."

The Kol Nidre services on Yom Kippur, Sept. 22, were cancelled together, while the Neilah service was advanced to an hour before the actual end of the Yom Kippur. The New Year service concluded a half-hour before the official blackout.

With Germany and Britain threatening unrestricted aerial warfare, the Board of Deputies of British Jews also issued a circular to all synagogues with instructions to be followed in the event of air raids during services.

Immediately the warning sirens were heard, services must stop, the instructions said. In addition, worshippers should not congregate in groups near the synagogues and, before leaving their homes, be sure that the windows are closed and the lights dimmed.

For the duration of the war, it is strongly urged that top hats should not be worn for synagogue services.

Meanwhile, because of the difficulties involved in supplying kosher food for thousands of Jewish children among the half million evacuated from London, Chief Rabbi Hertz announced that "in a national emergency such as at present that is required of them is to refrain from eating forbidden meat and shellfish."

Chief Rabbi also ordered a special prayer of supplication for God's victory in the war, to be said at every Sabbath festival and the prayer for the King. "A nation of perverseness has come to be a renowned nation," the prayer said. "Its rulers proclaim the way of race and blood. Strife, nation and destruction are in paths; they violate the boundaries of nations and the way of life they know not."

A New Year message, Rabbi Hertz declared that none would remain wholeheartedly to Britain than the Jews.

RIGA, Latvia—Panic among Wilno's Jewish population greatly contributed to the carnage resulting from a series of air raids by 18 Nazi bombers, according to details reaching here.

Instead of going into cellars when the raiders suddenly appeared over Wilno's thickly populated Jewish quarters, women carrying and dragging children and aged rushed to the streets screaming hysterically. Many were hit by fragments of exploding quarter-ton bombs and buried in the debris of demolished buildings.

Some men were able to take shelter, but women, children and aged totally lost their heads and ran back and forth in the exposed streets, screaming, crying and pleading, often with hands uplifted supplicantly to the low-flying bombers, who answered with machine guns.

In the almost total absence of authoritative control, scores of thousands of refugees from the war zones were trudging the night long to the Latvian frontier where they were being turned back a rifle and

French Jewry, Men At Front, Pray For Victory At Services

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

PARIS—The majority of its males in military uniforms fighting for the Republic, French Jewry gathered in synagogues for New Year services, gas mask in one hand and prayerbook in the other, and offered prayers for the victory of the Allies.

With Government permission, all synagogues were open, the usual air raid precautions being taken. Crowded as never before, the synagogues presented a picture of aged men, wives and mothers praying under dim lights for their sons and husbands on the battlefield and for their children, most of whom have been evacuated into the interior.

Jewish leaders issued the slogan: "The entire Jewish nation prays on Rosh Hashonah for the victory of France and the Allies and for the destruction of Hitlerism." The Paris rabbinate issued an appeal to the Jewish population not to gather in groups on the street in front of synagogues and to avoid speaking languages other than French.

Chief Rabbi Isayo Schwartz declared in a manifesto: "France and the Allies have done all to arrest the shadow of war. The Jews are confident that the Eternal will aid them. This confidence is emphasized by giving all the Jews can in the interior of France as well as at the front lines. May God protect our gallant soldiers and their chiefs. May He protect France and her Allies so that right, justice and freedom may triumph and the reign of violence cease forever."

Jewish volunteers and war veterans organized their own synagogue service, presenting a colorful picture of men in uniforms praying on the New Year before departing. Among them were numerous officers of the regular army.

Services throughout Paris were marked by pledges of special donations to aid the families of men who have been mobilized or wounded in action. Baron Robert de Rothschild, prominent philanthropist and Jewish leader who is himself in the military service, donated 75,000 francs for the families of alien Jews who have volunteered. The sum is to be distributed through the Federation of Jewish Societies, which represents immigrant Jews.

Big 4, J.D.C. Meet To Discuss Crisis; Unification Seen

By DANIEL L. SCHORR

NEW YORK—American Jewish organizations are rallying all their resources to cope with the plight of the beleaguered Jews in the war areas of Europe. Organizations have acted as follows:

(1) The General Jewish Council, holding a special two-day session to consider "the present emergency situation," discussed three plans for enlarged action and cooperation among organizations engaged in Jewish relief and defense and intensification of activities. Another meeting will be held Oct. 1. In the interim, the plans will be referred to the constituent organizations—American Jewish Committee, American Jewish Congress, B'nai B'rith and Jewish Labor Committee. In any event, the Council will be enlarged to include other organizations.

(2) The Joint Distribution Committee has rushed emergency funds to the Jewish central emergency committee in Poland and to Jewish relief agencies elsewhere in Europe. The J.D.C. has obtained the "sympathetic understanding" of the State Department for its work in Europe, an announcement said, and has opened discussions looking toward co-operation with the American Red Cross, the American Friends Service Committee and other groups.

(3) The Emergency Campaign Committee of the Federation of Polish Jews in America has received State Department permission to raise funds for the relief of war sufferers in Poland, Samuel Untermyer, chairman of the emergency committee announced, and M. Baldwin Fertig has accepted the chairmanship of the campaign executive committee.

May Enlarge Big 4

The General Jewish Council issued the following statement after its meeting:

"The General Jewish Council, comprising the American Jewish Committee, the American Jewish Congress, B'nai B'rith and Jewish Labor Committee, completed a special two-day session last evening (Sunday), called to consider the multitude of problems arising out of the present emergency situation. It was the unanimous agreement of all those present that the emergencies of the present moment require an intensification of activities and a unification of the efforts of agencies engaged in the defense of the rights of Jews."

"After a considerable discussion, three concrete plans were presented preliminary to a special meeting of the General Jewish Council which has been summoned for Oct. 1 in New York City, for the purpose of reaching a decision with respect thereto. The fortnight's interval was agreed upon in order to permit the constituent organizations to present the plans for the consideration of their governing bodies and to be instructed thereupon.

Britain Reiterates Gratitude To Jews

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency LONDON—Britons will never forget the "unstinted support" given by the Jews to England "in this grave crisis," it was declared editorially by Great Britain and the East, Colonial Office mouthpiece. Commenting on the Jewish Agency's pledge of aid to Britain, the editorial said it was a "great tribute, showing as it does that in an emergency, differences of opinion are forgotten." Dr. Chaim Weizmann, president of the Jewish Agency, in a Rosh Hashonah message to the Jewish people, declared that "the struggle for liberty and democracy is our struggle."

He said: "In a world where human rights and human dignity count, once more the Jew will regain his right as a human being and as a citizen. In a world which pays respect to the life of nations we too can claim the right to live and develop. In a world of democratic order and justice the Jewish people can look forward to the fulfillment and undisturbed upbuilding of the national home."

Miss Sheila Hansling of Chicago visited here over the holidays with Mr. and Mrs. Ben Paller. Mrs. Herschel Goodman entertained for her at luncheon and bridge Saturday afternoon.

Leaflet Spreader Gets 30-Day Term

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency MINNEAPOLIS—An anti-Semite, George R. Blaisdell, 37, who distributed leaflets near a church signed "Committee for Relief of Jewish Refugees," was sentenced to 30 days in the workhouse for disorderly conduct by Judge William C. Larson, who termed the leaflets "spurious writing emanating from an unknown source and calculated to create hatred and antagonism." Judge Larson declared in his ruling that "there can be no more potent breeder of public disorder than a deliberate stirring up of class against class and race against race."

Recently, a group of 24 representative citizens of Minneapolis issued an open letter to the public condemning racial hatred and urging tolerance. It suggested that "if any propaganda reaches you inviting you to take part in bringing about dissension you consider its motive and let a spirit of civic pride and friendliness be the governing factor in your decision."

65,000 Holy Land Jews Volunteer

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency JERUSALEM—A total of 65,000 Jews have volunteered for war service in the registration sponsored by the Jewish Agency for Palestine and the Jewish National Council. The volunteers included a general, several officers and aviators of the old Czech army.

Prayers for victory of the Allies in Europe were recited today in synagogues throughout Palestine on Rosh Hashonah at the call of Chief Rabbi Isaac Herzog.

A Yemenite Jew, Moshe Levi, 25, was shot dead near the Jerusalem railway station in the first recurrence of violence since the "truce" which began with the outbreak of war in Europe.

The Irgun Zvai, Zionist-Revisionist military organization, announced that it was suspending terrorism and was ready to join Britain in fighting for democracy against Hitlerism and "for creation of a Jewish state in Palestine."

Meanwhile, the 1,400 illegal Jewish immigrants who arrived at Tel Aviv on the S.S. Tigerhill on Sept. 4 were released from Sarafend concentration camp.

The Jewish Agency asked the Government to reassign to countries from which immigration is still possible the entry certificates allocated for countries now at war.

NAZI TACTICS AGAINST POLISH JEWRY TOLD

bayonet point. Entrance to Poland from Latvia was likewise impossible.

The 18 Nazi bombers swooped without warning on Wilno. They rained more than 200 explosive and incendiary bombs on the city. The thickly populated Jewish quarters were hardest hit in the raids. Horrible carnage was reported among Jewish children, women and aged. The planes were said to have dived close to the streets in the Jewish quarters, machine gunning fleeing pedestrians and leaving hundreds of dead and wounded in their wake.

A number of synagogues and scores of houses were in flames from the incendiary bombs. Medical attention was lacking and the greatest panic prevailed among the city's extremely poor Jews, who make up a large proportion of Wilno's population. The normal population of Wilno is about 200,000, but it is estimated that this figure has risen to about 500,000 as a result of the influx of war refugees, at least half of whom are Jewish.

Juan Ruiz, Brazilian diplomat, returned from Poland with heart-rending tales of the plight of war refugees, a majority of whom apparently were Jewish. Ruiz said he had seen 1,000 Jewish refugees stranded without food, many of them wounded or paralyzed with shock, beside the bodies of killed or wounded relatives in windowless, bomb shattered trains stalled on the line between Wilno and Lido. Other large groups in similar plight were observed 50 kilometers beyond the Wilno-Lido line, toward Baranowichi, where the trackage had been destroyed by Nazi air raiders.

Ruiz returned to Riga after an unsuccessful effort to reach southern Poland or the Russian frontier. Leaving Riga on Sept. 12, Ruiz crossed through Wilno and Lido, but was forced to turn back because the Baranowichi line had been destroyed. Returning on the following day, he found the line cut north of Lido and finally made his way back by means of a peasant cart after the greatest difficulty, passing through Wilno just before the bombardment by German war planes.

Ruiz said he saw thousands of Jewish refugees stranded in trains or trudging through towns, many of which were still burning. He saw numerous bodies along the tracks, mostly of aged Jewish men, women and children.

Flotillas of Nazi bombers were reported by military sources to be systematically raiding towns and refugee trains. In the absence of anti-aircraft and other defenses, the raiders were said to be literally massacring the population of towns, many of which are predominantly Jewish.

Synagogues in Kremienice, Dubno, Baranowichi and other Volhynian towns were bombed repeatedly during Rosh Hashanah services. Services were held in those towns because they were considered in safe Polish zones, since they were near the Russian frontier. The synagogues were crowded with thousands of Jews and, according to information reaching here, the number killed and wounded in the raids reached "very large" proportions.

According to the same sources, the towns of Siedlce, Lublin, Kielce and others with large Jewish populations have been "completely obliterated" by Nazi bombs. The same thing has happened to central streets in Lwow.

tion of greater responsibility on the part of the General Jewish Council in the direction and execution of activities relating to defense, and co-operative financial efforts. All three plans envisage the establishment of co-operative relations with the agencies engaged in extraordinary and normal relief activities for Jews in foreign lands, and preparation for the preservation of the rights of Jews in foreign lands and in Palestine. Under all the plans the enlargement of the membership of the General Jewish Council is anticipated to permit the inclusion of a greater number of representatives than are now a part thereof."

Statement by J.D.C.

After a special meeting of its officers on Sunday night, the J.D.C. issued the following statement with respect to the overseas situation and its program of assistance:

"Well in advance of the outbreak of hostilities, the Joint Distribution Committee took steps to organize its affairs abroad in such a way as to be able to render maximum service wherever the demands might arise. A staff of American citizens, under the directorship of Morris C. Troper, is therefore available for such activities and in such zones as the situation may require. Plans are well under way to establish Joint Distribution Committee offices in those neutral countries from which the most effective relief work will be possible.

This friendly and co-operative attitude of the United States representatives overseas is greatly appreciated. The Joint Distribution Committee has consulted the Department of State with respect to its activities abroad so that its entire program may be consistent with the policy of our own Government. The State Department has manifested a most sympathetic understanding of its problems.

"The Joint Distribution Committee, which functioned throughout the last war, recognizes all too well the vastness of the new problems created by the present catastrophe. As in the previous war, it will undoubtedly be necessary and desirable for all relief agencies to co-operate to the fullest possible extent, and the Joint Distribution Committee, as before, is prepared to offer the fullest possible cooperation with all other relief groups regardless of race or creed.

With respect to the entire program, the Joint Distribution Committee is initiating discussions on these matters with many organizations, including the American Red Cross and the American Friends Service Committee.

"Conscious of the overwhelming tragedy which is bringing ruin and death to millions of our fellow-

Survey Shows Jewish War Record Bright

Total 1,500,000 Jews fought in World War, twice Jewish population ratio. More Jews than Germans, per population, fought and died for Kaiser's armies.

THE theater of the present war is a region with a relatively large number of Jews. Polish Jewry is in the thick of the fighting. Among the soldiers of Josef Pilsudski who won independence for Poland, the Jews established a most honorable record, one which they are undoubtedly upholding with equal loyalty now. Jews are also enrolled in the French and British armies, but it is not likely they have been included in the armed forces of the Third Reich. The Nuremberg Laws disqualify "non-Aryans" for military service, but there need be no doubt that the Jews of Germany, former Austria, and former Czechoslovakia are serving in labor battalions and as army doctors.

At the present juncture it is relevant to review the participation of the Jews in the World War of 1914-18. Polish Jewry was then divided among the Russian, Austro-Hungarian and German empires. Several of the belligerent nations of that war are neutral at present; it is hoped that they will not become involved. It should nevertheless be of interest to consider the record of Jewish participation in the World War under the banners of the chief belligerent powers, including those which are neutral today.

Of the 14,000,000 Jews then in the world, during the four years of the war about 1,500,000 were included in the mobilized forces of the belligerent nations. These 1,500,000 Jews amounted to more than 2 per cent of the 65,000,000 men in all the mobilized forces, or almost twice the Jewish population ratio in the countries involved. The population of all the countries at war aggregated 1,001,800,000, among whom the Jews numbered 13,508,000, or 1.3 per cent. Moreover, in each country a greater fraction among the Jewish population served in the army than among the population at large.

U. S. Jews Patriotic

The number of Americans mobilized totaled 4,355,000, or 4.1 per cent of the entire population (105,710,620 according to the census of 1920).

In 1917 the Jewish population was estimated at 3,390,000, or 1.3 per cent of the total population of the country. The number of American Jews included in the mobilized forces totaled about 225,000, of whom 30,000 to 40,000 (18 per cent) were volunteers. Thus, the Jews supplied 5.1 per cent of the mobilized forces, as compared with their population ratio of 3.3 per cent.

It is known that the selective draft resulted in a relatively large number of soldiers from the urban population, and the Jews, as a predominantly urban population, shared fully in the effects of the system. On the other hand, among those granted exemption because they were engaged in agriculture and in such fields as mining and the metal industry, the number of Jews was small.

The mobilized forces of the British Empire numbered 9,296,691, or 2.1 per cent of the total population (423,000,000 in 1911). The Jews of the British Empire totaled about 600,000 (1.7 of 1 per cent) in 1914, including the 200,000 recent immigrants from other countries who had not yet been naturalized and thus were not eligible to serve. The British mobilized forces included 50,000 Jews, or 8 per cent of the total Jewish population. Thus, the Jews constituted over 1% of 1 per cent of the British forces, as compared with their ratio in the population which was 1.7 of 1 per cent. Among the 50,000 enrolled, there were 10,000 Jews who had volunteered for active service before the draft.

France and its colonies mobilized 8,410,000, or 16 per cent of a total population of about 52,000,000. The number of Jews mobilized was approximately 55,000, or over 20 per cent of the total Jewish population, estimated at 240,000. Thus, whereas the Jews in France and French Africa constituted less than 1/2 of 1 per cent of the total population, in the army the Jewish ratio was 0.6 per cent.

11,000 North African Jews

The 11,000 Tunisian and Moroccan Jews who joined the French forces fought as volunteers. Not being French citizens they were not subject to the draft, and not being Moslems they could not be recruited in the native contingents.

On June 19, 1918, Minister of Military Marine, Cesar Campinchi, in speaking for his government at the dedication of a monument erected at Douaumont (near Verdun) in honor of the Jewish war dead in France, recalled that of the 30,000 Russian, Rumanian and Turkish Jews residing in France in 1914, 12,000 volunteered for service in the French Foreign Legion.

The Tsarist government mobilized a total of 12,000,000, or 7 per cent of the country's population (171,000,000). The last census before the war (1897) gave the total Jewish population as 5,110,548, or 3 per cent of the total population. Although it has been estimated that by 1914 the Jewish population had increased (5,800,000 to 6,000,000), the general population likewise increased, so that the Jewish ratio of 3 per cent remained about the same. It is estimated that the number of Jews in the mobilized forces totaled about 600,000, 5 per cent. Thus, 10 per cent of the Jewish population was mobilized. The total mobilized forces comprised 13.6 per cent of the general population.—Congress Bulletin.

mobilized. Among the 750,000 there were approximately 35,000 Jews (estimated by General Alevra). These 35,000 Jews constituted 15.2 per cent of the total Jewish population of 230,000, while the total mobilized forces comprised 9.5 per cent of the general population. Thus, whereas the Jewish population constituted 2.91 per cent of the total Rumanian population, among the mobilized forces the Jews constituted 4.6 per cent.

The German Empire mobilized 11,000,000, or 16 per cent of its total population (68,000,000). The number of Jews mobilized was approximately 100,000. This constituted 16.5 per cent of the Jewish population which, according to the census of 1910, was 603,811 (including immigrants not eligible to serve). Thus, whereas the Jewish population ratio was 0.93 per cent, among the mobilized forces the Jews constituted 1.1 per cent.

With regard to Jewish participation in the German army, there are some interesting supplementary facts. The number of Jews killed in action totaled about 12,000. Decorations were conferred upon some 35,000 Jews and the number promoted totaled about 23,000.

The Dual Monarchy mobilized a total of 7,800,000, or 13.6 per cent of the total population (57,000,000). Among the mobilized forces the Jews numbered 300,000, or 3.8 per cent. According to the census of 1910, the number of Jews in Austria-Hungary was about 2,280,000, or 4 per cent of the general population. Thus, 13.1 per cent of the Jewish population was mobilized. The total mobilized forces comprised 13.6 per cent of the general population.—Congress Bulletin.

With deepest appreciation for the cooperation of our God-fearing and God-serving friends, the Jewish people. . . . May they always prosper.

Sincerely yours,

VOLUNTEERS OF AMERICA

Freedom of the Press Says Failure to Use Rabbi Before Name Discourteous

To the Editor:

It certainly shows a lack of respect when you say, "Goldblatt Returns." I see in other parts of The Post in speaking of Drs. Seigel, Charry, Feuerlicht, etc., you do not just say Seigel, Charry, Feuerlicht, but Dr. or Rabbi. It may have been an oversight by your editor. Let's hope he would not have let it go through and should be more careful.

A READER OF THE POST.
Indianapolis.

Editor's Note: On page 1 of the issue of Sept. 1, a news story was headed, "Charry Named." On page 7 of the same issue in which the "Goldblatt Returns" heading appeared, there appeared on page 7 another heading, "Greenwald at Meeting." On page 4 of the issue of Aug. 18 appeared the heading, "Goldman Charges." The reader is wrong. Newspaper procedure says accord a person his title when possible, but when space does not permit, lop it off. The New York Times says, "Wise to Speak," or "Holmes Arrives," when referring to Rabbi Stephen S. Wise or the Rev. John Haynes Holmes. Most abused in this respect is the nation's No. 1 man who is termed anything from

Explains Where Proceeds From Dance Go

To the Editor:

In connection with Junior Hadassah's Yom Kippur night dance, I think it would be proper for the Jewish people to know the purpose of Junior Hadassah and what is done with the proceeds of the dance.

Junior Hadassah has undertaken its year's tasks with a sense of grave responsibility toward its part in the development of the Jewish homeland and toward easing the lot of persecuted Jewry. The special work of the organization is the maintenance of a model children's village, a citrus farm and a training school for nurses, three institutions that are regarded by experts as of exceptional social and educational value in Palestine. This year has seen the beginning toward the (Continued on Page 12)

NEW YORK—Bing Crosby, screen and radio star, has just joined the Committee of Catholics for Human Rights, it was announced by Dr. Emmanuel Chapman, executive secretary of the committee and editor of The Voice for Human Rights.

Crosby said: "We cannot stand idly by and see our America threatened by the double-edged sword of religious and racial hatred. Those guilty of supporting any 'ism' except 'Americanism' are weakening their own moral fiber. Attacks against one minority are the first step toward the oppression of all minorities. I am happy, indeed, to add my name to your list of those in defense of human rights, and I hope The Voice will be a potent antidote to the vicious poison of race hatred."

HADASSAH OPENS SEASON WITH DRIVE

Junior Hadassah Names Committees As First Meeting of The Year Is Set

Elaborate Oneg Shabbat Set For Drive's End; To Welcome New Members

With plans calling for the most ambitious program in years, Senior Hadassah settled down to serious work early with the opening Tuesday of a membership drive. Following a meeting in Kirshbaum Center, fifty women, under the direction of Mrs. Sam Weinberg, chairman, and Mrs. Clarence Budd, co-chairman, began to comb the Jewish community for new members.

The first report meeting of the drive has been set for 10 a. m. Monday, September 26, at Mrs. Weinberg's home, 3663 North Pennsylvania street.

The drive proper will culminate with an elaborate Succos Oneg Shabbat at 2 p. m. Saturday, September 30, in the home of Mrs. J. A. Goodman on Kessler boulevard. A large succah has been built at Crown's Nest for the affair.

Principal speaker will be Mrs. Leo Westheimer of Cincinnati, prominent in national Hadassah circles. Mrs. Westheimer visited Palestine last year and spent some time in the Jewish colonies. The Oneg Shabbat will welcome new members, and greetings will be extended by Mrs. S. A. Silberman, president.

Hostesses for the affair are Mrs. Sultan Cohen, Mrs. Aaron Glick, Mrs. Arthur Fairbanks, Mrs. Lewis Levy, Mrs. Weinberg, Mrs. J. L. Mueller and Mrs. Joseph Bloch.

Lack of Rabbis To Fill Pulpits Admitted By Dr. Morgenstern of Hebrew Union College

CINCINNATI, O.—"There are more pulpits open than the number of Rabbis available to fill them," Dr. Julian Morgenstern, president of Hebrew Union College, pioneer Liberal American Jewish Theological Seminary in Cincinnati, declared in a recent interview.

"If we had four or five more Rabbis ready to fill positions, everybody would be happy," Dr. Morgenstern said.

The college president gave three reasons for the number of openings this year.

In the first place, Dr. Morgenstern expressed his belief that congregations are in a slightly better financial position. He said that this was evident because congregations which had not employed Rabbis before, were able to secure leaders. Small increases in salaries offered to recent H. U. C. graduates also indicated a better financial position, in Dr. Morgenstern's opinion.

"A stronger Jewish consciousness called forth by the critical period in which we live has made congregations desire capable leadership,"

To Welcome New Members

Henry Feferman,
Anna L. Sandock Wed

Special
SOUTH BEND, Ind.—Impressive rites Thursday in her home made Miss Anne Louise Sandock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Barney Sandock, the bride of Henry Feferman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Feferman. Rabbi Maurice Parzen read the service before a bower of white gladioli, palms and autumn garden flowers. Miss Margaret Jackson, pianist, and Miss Idell Bailin, violinist, played nuptial music.

Miss Sandock wore an afternoon frock of grotto blue crepe with matching hat and accessories and carried white orchids, valley lilies and roses. Miss Evelyn Raff of Chicago, as her maid of honor, wore wine colored crepe and a corsage of gardenias. Kurt Simon of South Bend was groomsman. Mrs. Sandock wore black with gold trimming and Mrs. Feferman was in moss green with matching accessories. Both wore corsages of roses.

Later a wedding luncheon was served in Hotel Lasalle and a reception took place in the evening in the Sandock residence. After October 1 the couple will be at home at 624 West Colfax avenue. The bride attended the University of California at Berkeley and Mr. Feferman attended the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor and was graduated from the University of Chicago.

Officers for the coming year, who assumed their duties for the first time, are: Norma Miller, president; Margie Rab, vice president; Harriet Levy, treasurer, and Annette Simon, secretary. Adele Sternberger and Ruth Wineberg are the calling committee. Janet Cooler will be program chairman, and Phyllis Meierson, publicity chairman. The next meeting will be held at the home of Norma Miller on Sunday afternoon, Sept. 27.

Adler Girl In Crayons

JANE ADLER

Miss Adler is the seven-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Adler Jr., 5675 Washington boulevard. Her portrait was done in colored crayons by Clara Epstein, formerly of Vienna, Jewish refugee artist of international distinction who is now making her home in Indianapolis at 1119 Park avenue. Miss Epstein has recently completed portraits of the two daughters and son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Blumberg of Terre Haute.

For Your Supper Party

Post's Menu Expert Says No Need To Fear Giving A Party If Everything Is Planned

By Mildred Grosberg Bellin

HEIGH-HO! Summer is ending, here the holidays are over and the party season is upon us. Are you scared to death at the thought of giving a large party? You needn't be. Giving a party is as much fun as going to one—if you have it all planned first.

Of course, guests have to be amused with games or bridge and such like, but we have to feed 'em, too, and don't let anyone tell you that part isn't important. It's a good idea to feed guests soon after they come, the Sunday night supper idea. It puts them in a mellow, acquiescent mood for one thing, and leaves the hostess free during the evening. For one of these parties 12 to 25 are good numbers, more are nice if possible, but seldom have less.

As for the menu, men like it fairly substantial, and with men at a party, we cater to them. A good rule is to have one hot dish and one cold one, in addition to the salad, potato chips, relishes, etc. Cold drinks are easier to serve, but a hot beverage hits the spot on a cold night.

And now for a little success secret. Have one dish that is a reputation maker—something that the males and females both rave about and all your friends want to know how to make. One of the best of these is my favorite one for baked beans that are different.

Around the bean pot the following menu drapes itself perfectly.

Apple pie Beverage

Here is the baked bean recipe. Please follow the directions carefully. If you don't make it in advance and reheat it, people will wonder why you bothered. The flavor has to soak in overnight.

Baked Beans

1 lb. baby lima beans

½ lb. fat flanken

1 teaspoon salt

¼ teaspoon pepper

¾ cup brown sugar

1 No. 2 can tomatoes

extra tomato juice

Soak beans overnight in plenty of cold water two days before they are to be eaten. Next morning, cook in the same liquid until they are tender but not mushy. Strain tomatoes, add sugar, salt and pepper, and heat just enough to dissolve the sugar. Cut the meat into pieces one inch long and one-fourth inch thick. In a large casserole or bean pot, if you have one, place alternate layers of the beans, flanken, and tomato mixture. Cover tightly and bake at 325 degrees F. for 2½ hours. Cool and place in refrigerator until one hour before use. The beans will appear dry. Add slowly the extra tomato juice until the beans look juicy again. Cover and reheat one hour at 350 degrees F.

Best Wishes for a Happy New Year

INDIANA FUR CO.:

Of course you read the papers, don't you? You've been given day by day and hour by hour accounts of the war across the waters. You've learned that the St. Louis Cards only only two and one-half games out of first place. You know by now that Joe Louis again successfully defended his world's heavyweight championship. But here's the most timely story of all: The INDIANA FUR CO. is holding a special sale to make room for more fur coats and is offering the most glamorous, lovely and long-wearing furs in its history at sensationaly low prices. Business has been good at the INDIANA FUR CO and that is why they can afford to do this. Purchase your coat now with a small down payment and then arrange weekly or monthly payments to suit your purse. I don't mean to be a wet blanket, but winter is coming!

nick, a gorgeous wedding gift the other day at the INDIANA FUR CO. Yep, you guessed it, it's a fur coat, mink to be exact!

KEMPLER'S

Something good is worth repeating and that is why I wish to impress upon your minds a message presented the week before last. History is being made every minute of the day and we should thank our heavenly stars that we are on the sidelines listening to a graphic account of the war through the medium of our radio. You who do not possess a receiver are without a history book which is being written before your very eyes. It is worth the time, the trouble and the money to select a set so that you'll know what's going on. KEMPLER'S do have wonderful values as they are out of the high rent district, have a small overhead and can afford to give you superb values. They are located on College avenue right above 34th street.

Pinky Davis really bought his prospective bride, Bertha Bud-goes something like "Birds of a feather flock together." I believe that to be very true, especially after having spent the afternoon at Hillman's where I saw the elite of Indianapolis selecting their newest fall garments.

Why should the finest, select clientele choose Hillman's for their clothes if Hillman's were not the most authentic high-fashioned shop in our town?

The answer is of course—they wouldn't.

Hillman fashions are the most commendable, the most discussed fashions in Indianapolis because Hillman's associate themselves only with the finest couturiers, the finest designers in America. Therefore, it's only natural that they have become one of the most sought after shops in town and also the most distinguished. Since it is an exclusive shop, more nearly like a fine, personal salon created with "you" in mind, the style conscious woman who desires the best knows Hillman's as her shop.

There's an old saying that

Wisdom From the Ages

He that grasps at too much holds nothing fast.

One never loses anything by politeness.

It is wise not to seek a secret and honest not to reveal it.

The palm is not gained without the dust of labor.

A rock that resists a crowbar gives way to a slender plant.

When it rains pottage you must hold up your dish. At a great bargain make a great pause.

Never light your candle at both ends.

Better say nothing than nothing to the purpose.

Great undertakings require great preparations.

'Twixt the word and the deed there is a long step.

He that is master of himself will soon be master of others.

He is well on the way to wisdom who can bear a reproof and mend by it.

Time moves slowly to him whose employment it is to watch its flight.

The bombardment of Warsaw, the same advices reported, has taken a particularly heavy toll of Jewish lives. Nazi planes were dropping bombs in Nalewki, resulting in many casualties.

Warsaw's normal Jewish population of 350,000 has been swelled by thousands of refugees from Lodz and other occupied territories who were actively participating in the Polish capital's defense.

Hundreds of Jewish shops have been converted into canteens for troops and first-aid stations. The Jewish Aid Committee was serving soup, bread and tea both to troops and children.

Authorities in the Wilno district ordered food sold at reduced prices because of Rosh Hashonah. Polish fish co-operatives distributed fish gratis to poor Jews.

By Seymour Pinkus

O. K., lads and lassies, get your dancin' shoes out of the mothballs and get ready to swing it at the Junior Hadassah Yom Kippur dance tomorrow night at the Columbia Club. It'll feel good to see the ol' gang hoofin' it again from now until the end of the social whirl next spring.

While on the subject of the approaching social season, here's a tip on a super-colossal jam and jive session to be held on Sunday, October 22. The Junior Council is going to present a "Bum's Rush" frolic at the Riviera Club and it will be seemly dee-vine. Imagine a get-together where you can wear the oldest, raggiest clothes you have? In fact, the worse you look the better your chance of copping a prize for the most appropriate costume.

Also picture, if you will, a dance hall that is really big, and I mean big. That means no shoving, crowding, kicking or gauging. Ah, heavenly day! They're planning entertainment of the zany variety and the price of admission, whether couple or stag, will be seventy-nine cents. Sounds plenty oakie doakie doesn't it?

Follow the sad, sad story of Leonard Berkowitz. One day last week a young woman came into the store where he and Lou Silver are employed and made off with a pair of shoes. Discovering the theft and knowing where the gal lived, Lou phoned the police. In no time at all a squad pulled up in front of the store and told Lou to hop in and help them track down the culprit. Well, here's the pay off. All his life, Berke wanted to ride in a squad car, especially while the siren was blasting away, and here was a golden opportunity. If you see him walking around as if he had lost his last friend and with a trace of a tear in his eye, well, it's because the cops left Berke at the curve.

Many I. U. grads will remember Armen Lipsic, the S. A. M. from Gary. Well, he married Eloise Milgram last Sunday and here's wishing the best of everything to them both.

Over at Shortridge High, where they put out some mighty fine football teams, four Jewish lads are fighting for their varsity sweater. Gene Stauber is regular quarterback on the team, Al Traugott plays right half back and sees a lot of action, Al Levinson breaks into the lineup as an end and Saul Hockman is battling for a first string tackle post.

Say, I found a Junior Council membership card belonging to Helen Cohn who lives at 1201 Union Street. It is waiting for her at our office.

Dr. Harold Jaffe has been doing some mighty serious practicing the past few weeks. He is going to play Kol Nidre at the Tenth St. temple tonight during Yom Kippur services and it should be very beautiful indeed.

Mrs. L. L. Goodman gave a party Tuesday night for her cousin, Evalyn Oppenheim, of Cleveland, who is visiting here. Among the guests who attended, and had a wonderful time, were Abner Schwartz with Evalyn, Harry Einstandig with Jane Strashun, Alvin Cohen and Lucille Borinstein, Julian Kiser with "Sonny" Weinberg, Gordon Cohen and Mary Sternfels, Helen Oppenheim with Charlie Feibleman, Margie Goldberg, Rachel Feibleman and many others.

At Broadmoor last Sunday Irv Ruben and Rabbi Charry performed a la Frankie Parker and Bobby Riggs when they teamed together to lick Alfred Dobrowitz and Dave Klapper 8-6 in a tennis match. We could use you fellows to bring the Davis Cup back to these shores, so better stay in trim, you never know when you'll be called on.

Dr. Abner Blatt has written to friends here that he is at present in Pago Pago, Samoa, and is doing work there with the naval and the Samoan village hospital. He expects to be back in early winter. "Oh I'd like to see Samoa of Samoa."

Everytime the allies release a story to the papers all over the world that they are preparing a huge offensive or are planning ways of coming to the aid of Poland, I feel that something like this really happens: The diplomats meet, lock themselves in a solitary room, get out a deck of cards and start a good game of penny-ante poker. See you at the dance and later at the Subway.

Canadian Station Bans Coughlin Because of War

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

DETROIT—Radio station CKLW of Detroit and Windsor, Ont., announced that in view of Canada's declaration of war against Germany the broadcasts sponsored by Charles E. Coughlin's Social Justice magazine have been cancelled. It was stated here that the station apparently regarded the Coughlin broadcasts as pro-German.

F.C.C. Urged to Act

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

NEW YORK—Charges that Charles E. Coughlin was "inciting to riot and civil war" through his weekly broadcasts were made by the Friends of Democracy in a memorandum to the Federal Communications Commission and the National Association of Broadcasters. The memorandum, signed by L. M. Birkhead, national director, urged that steps be taken to cancel Father Coughlin's contracts with radio stations carrying his weekly talks from Royal Oak, Mich., or to see that they are not renewed upon their expiration.

The document cited particularly Coughlin's July 30 broadcast in which the "radio priest" warned his opponents that "we will fight you in Franco's way if necessary."

"This quotation," the memorandum stated, "is typical of Father Coughlin's philosophy of violent and revolutionary utterances. Nearly every sentence is aimed at the destruction of our democratic civilization...because of the fact that the temper and character of his radio addresses are such that they incite his vast audience to physical violence and racial hatreds, Father Coughlin has abused the radio as an instrument of public service."

Newman Flays Rabbis' Critics

Attempt to dictate to rabbis on war opinions termed "reprehensible" by Rabbi Louis I. Newman of New York.

WHAT attitude shall American Jews take towards the war? Or should we expect that there is to be a single attitude on the part of all or most American Jews? President Roosevelt in his speech Sunday evening, September 3, declared that he could not expect Americans to be neutral in their thoughts. In other words, every individual has his own convictions relating to the issues of the war.

Unfortunately there is an opinion in certain circles of American Jewish leadership that an attempt must be made to control the views of the public spokesmen of the Jewish community. At least one instance has come to our notice of the endeavor to dictate to rabbis the opinions which they must voice in their pulpit, or write in the press. Such a high-handed procedure is reprehensible, and both rabbis and laymen should repudiate it. The rabbis of this generation, for the most part, have preached through one World War and thereafter; they can be counted upon to speak wisely and judiciously in the light of their own conscience and observation. Moreover, the younger men in the Jewish pulpit are men of scholarship and good sense; they likewise may be thoroughly trusted. Moreover, it is certain that there will be much variance of opinion on particular points. For example, Rabbi Philip S. Bernstein of Rochester expressed at the Williamsburg Institute a highly pacifist opinion. He is a conscientious objector with reference to the war system, and, if I am not mistaken, was an advocate for the ill-fated proposal at a session of the Central Conference of American Rabbis that Jews ask for the legal status of the Quakers in wartime.

I have not agreed and do not agree with Rabbi Bernstein in his attitude towards the duty of the citizen in times of war. I squirmed when I read the item in the New York Times since I do not believe it adequately represents the wisest position which Jews can take. Nevertheless, I would do nothing more than politely disagree with my talented colleague. No pressure should be brought upon him by laity or Rabbis though I venture to say he has received criticisms and warnings. The more tense the times the more we should be on guard to protect our pristine liberties of utterance. We have no desire to repeat the scandal of Uriel Acosta and Benedict Spinoza in our times.

Vigilante committees are being set up by certain national Jewish organizations, the American Jewish Congress, excepted, in order to keep a check rein upon the utterances of Rabbis and other Jewish publicists. Through the medium of this column I send out storm-signals to my colleagues cautioning them against the growing tendency to censor and suppress pulpit utterances. If a representative of a national Jewish organization comes into your community, seeking to "advise" on the attitude which your community should take, permit me to say that this representative should be told that the Rabbi maintains freedom of judgment and regards as unassailable his right to look ahead and to speak as his conscience and his powers of observation and interpretation determine.

Moreover, I should like to say to the national Jewish organization resorting to these tactics of suave and delicate "guidance" that they are barking up the wrong tree. Jews hate war; no Jew wishes to be a war-monger. At the same time, we wish to do nothing or say nothing which would lead non-Jews to imagine that we wish to soft-pedal the hostility to Hitler. When Poland is conquered, as seems likely, an attempt will be made to conclude peace on the Western Front, in accordance with the terms of the victorious Germans. It would be shocking if any Jews supported this move directly or indirectly. Moreover, if the United States should enter the World War, the recollection that Jews have played the game of the isolationists may prove a boomerang against them. In other words, make up his mind for himself; and knowing that Rabbis are intelligent folk, they can be expected to think and speak wisely. They do not need the scrutiny or control of any layman seeking to be Inquisitors, or their hirelings, ex-Rabbincal or otherwise.

rescue of Jewish children of Germany, Austria and other countries by admitting 25 such boys and girls to Meier Shfeyah through the agency of the Youth Aliyah (immigration movement, which has already settled 2,500 European children in Palestine).

In addition, Junior Hadassah participates in the land purchasing and reforestation program of the Jewish National Fund. At the same time, Junior Hadassah is a vital cultural force among young women in America. All the activities, from the smallest to the largest, have this double aim in view—to support work in Palestine and to foster Jewish learning and Zionist ideals among the Jewish girls of America. H. Frankly Speaking Named Washington Correspondent for the Jewish Telegraph Agency, Pat Frank is well-qualified for the position! He also is a fiction writer of note.

By PAT FRANK

BOB REYNOLDS, who silently practices anti-Semitism, got back from Europe just in time for the opening of the special session, a somewhat chastened man. Down in North Carolina, the people have been wondering how come Bob goes to Europe every year, and then comes back to damn the Europeans and try to block immigration.

First thing Bob did when he got back to Washington was to hold a press conference. Although he's been a rabid isolationist, he'd been hearing reports of how people back home felt, and his statement on neutrality was a masterpiece of how to say nothing in the most possible words. It concluded with:

"In my capacity as United States senator I should like to take this opportunity to sound a clarion call for unity, for moral rearmament, for a will to peace. I am strongly in favor of any neutrality legislation that will provide us of America with genuine, honest, sincere neutrality."

In other words, neutrality for the neutralitarians. The next time the good senator from North Carolina gets up on the floor in a brave attack on refugee children, write and ask him whether he was descended from immigrants—or Indians.

If you're Jewish, and your ears are burning, it's because people have been talking about you. There are no less than 200 anti-Semitic publications printed regularly in the United States, according to facts now in the hands of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Most of these are sheer filth and diatribe, and the bible of all them are the spurious Protocols of Zion. You can read in "America in Danger," edited by Charles B. Hudson, in Omaha, Neb., that "Pres. FDR is part Jew," which isn't so. And he speaks of the "traitorous Dies Committee," now that Dies has taken a smack or two at the Nazis.

Industrial Control Reports, the $12-a-year newsletter of James True, throws in its weight, as usual, for Hitler, and urges its readers to "deluge Congress with letters and telegrams of a most emphatic nature" to defeat the President's proposals on changing the neutrality act.

"Baruch now resumes his role of the unofficial president," screams the National American—and so it goes. "Who would believe that tripe?" is the question every Jew asks. And the answer is, there is rabble that believes it. But the funny thing is this—these periodicals keep "sucker lists"—and exchange them. The confirmed Jew-hater will subscribe to a dozen or more, and that's where they get their circulation.

The Dies Committee skimmed the surface, in digging into William Dudley Pelley's activities, but it could spend the next ten sessions of Congress looking into the financial affairs of the other Jew-hating publishers. And people ask: "Why doesn't Dies call Father Coughlin to the witness stand?" And their question is unanswered.

I lunched the other day with the minister from one of the small countries which now has Russia pressing in on one side, and Germany on the other, and which is trying desperately to be neutral.

"In a day—in a week," he said a little wistfully, "this little legation, and the plot of land on which it stands, may be all that remains of my country. We were a good people, although not strong. We worked, and we paid our debts, and while none of us were rich, still all of us had a little. And now, we may be swallowed. We can't fight, for our army is smaller than a German division. We can only smile and hope."

Then he lifted a glass of his country's native liquor to his lips, and said:

"But here's to your country—may she become greater than ever, and may she find her destiny."

I asked what destiny, and he said:

"The war will be won, or lost, right here in Washington."

And this is something everyone knows here—that if we cannot sell planes to England and France, then the frightful bombing of London and Paris will begin. Indeed, the allies will be almost helpless without the product of our plane factories. They stand to lose their first line ships within two months, in actual combat, and it is certain their own plants will be bombed. So it's America—or else.

getting a fair trial as your dear old maiden aunt.

"Now the alumni handle things and barriers have been removed from the paths of the boys who play. The alumni groups will let any hulk lug the ball but these same groups are still very much concerned with who manages them and who coaches them and who officiates at their games."

We managed to sputter: "But Horween of Harvard didn't go after the job and regardless of the fact he was Jewish, he was picked."

"Horween of Harvard," my tormentor continued, "is the only Jewish coach of a big-time school—if Harvard can be considered big time—that you can name. There may be one or two others but until there are more of them in the game I'll stick to my story that football is thirty years behind the time as compared with baseball."

Names All-Time Team

"I'll name you an all-time Jewish football team that can stand up against any combination of eleven men you may mention. They were all-America when making such a mythical team really meant something. Some of the others have been unanimous choices on teams during the past five years—a unanimous choice being the only criterion we can go by today whether a man is really great on a national scale.

"I'm purposely leaving out the names of halfbacks and fullbacks. There have been too many really great ones to say that or this one was best. But my question is up again. Only Benny Friedman is a coach of a school and that's a jerkwater outfit insofar as football goes."

"How many Jews officiated in an intercollegiate contest? How many of them are still connected with the game in anything other than a playing capacity? Don't use my selections. Name your own and ask yourself the same question."

THE University of Chicago Round Table, nationally famous radio discussion program, will be brought to Indianapolis Sunday, October 29, as the opening and feature program of the 1939-40 lecture series of the Kirshbaum Forum, it was announced today by Mrs. Jack A. Three members of the faculty of the University of Chicago who have participated in the round table programs very often will conduct the program here. They are Professor Maynard C. Krueger, professor of economics; Professor Walter H. C. Laves, associate professor of political science and chairman of the social science courses in the college at the university, and Dr. Quincy Wright, professor of international law. The subject they will discuss will be "Neutrality, Isolation, and the Prospects of Peace."

L. Sachar, historian, biographer, educator and national director of the Hillel Foundations, will lecture on "Palestine—The Much Promised Land"; Sunday, February 11, Pierre Van Paassen, famous foreign correspondent and author of "Days of Our Years," will talk on "The Crisis in Western Civilization"; Sunday, March 10, Johannes Steel, "Propaganda in Our United States."

Forum Committee Listed

Members of the Open Forum managing committee are Mrs. J. A. Goodman, chairman; Jacqueline Wolf and Gordon Cohn, in charge of ticket sales; Floyd Beitman, Dr. Ebner Blatt, J. M. Bloch, Mrs. Sultan Cohen, Richard Efroyson, Mrs. Robert Efroyson, Ernest Fisher, Mortimer Furcett, Tev Jacobs, Mrs. Allan Kahn, Anne Kaufman, J. J. Kiser, Mrs. Henry Kabin, Dr. Bennett Kraft, Mrs. Samuel Kroft, Dr. Sidney Norwick, Mrs. Arthur Rose, Dr. Bernard Rosenak, Mrs. David Sablosky, Dr. Louis Segar, Leo Selig, Jacob Weiss, Theodore Dann, president of the Association, and Allan Bloom, general secretary.

The University of Chicago Round Table will be presented by the Forum exactly as it goes on the air weekly over forty-three stations from coast to coast, to an audience estimated at a million and a half. It is heard locally over Station WIRE at 11 a. m. on Sundays.

Dr. James Shelby Thomas, who lectures November 19, was born in Saltville, Va., in 1879. He was awarded an A.B. degree from Milligan College in 1900 and the M.A. degree in 1904. Later he attended the University of Chicago for graduate work.

Dr. Thomas joined the Commonwealth and Southern Corporation in the capacity of chief economist, and in 1933 the Clarkson College of Technology at Potsdam, N. Y., named him its president. The same year he became associated with the Chrysler Institute of Engineering.

Forum Speaker

DR. SACHAR

Michael Williams, Forum speaker on December 10, is regarded as one of the outstanding figures in religious journalism in the United States. He has made a special study of the problems of the Catholic Church in the dictator countries. He reported the coronation of Pope Pius XII for the New York Times.

He met and talked with leading clergymen from Italy and Germany at the recent papal conclave and immediately following its adjournment visited Spain as the personal guest of Cardinal Y. Gama, leading clerical adviser to General Franco's government.

Not long after he began writing on religious subjects, Mr. Williams conceived of a Catholic magazine in the field of arts that would meet the needs of the laity. The Commonwealth was the result. He was the first lay Catholic to edit a magazine intended for Catholic readers. Almost from its inception in 1920, the Commonwealth had a wide influence not only among Catholics but among members of all faiths in this country and even abroad.

Second Appearance for Sachar

The talk scheduled for January 7 by Dr. A. L. Sachar will be his second appearance here as Open Forum speaker, his previous appearance having been two years ago when he spoke on "Raw Materials and Our Destiny."

Dr. Sachar was born in New York in 1899 and educated at Washington and Harvard universities, followed by three years of post graduate work at the University of Cambridge, England. He received the degree of doctor of philosophy for his work on the Victorian House of Lords.

In 1923 Dr. Sachar joined the faculty of the University of Illinois, teaching in the field of modern European and English history. He resigned in 1929 to become national director of the Hillel Foundations which are established in the leading universities.

Paassen Journalist

"Days of Our Years," the memoirs of Pierre Van Paassen, who speaks here February 11, has been acclaimed one of the best selling books of 1939. It gives vivid pictures of his life all over the world as a newspaper correspondent.

Mr. Van Paassen was born in Holland of strict Calvinist parents. He spent his later youth in Canada and soon after the outbreak of the World War he left a theological school to join the Canadian army. He was wounded in action and was decorated several times for bravery.

When the armistice was signed he came back to Canada and entered the profession of journalism by accident. The civil re-establishment commission, whose duty it was to find civilian employment for discharged soldiers, handed him a list of trades and professions in which vocational training was being offered. He shut his eyes and let his finger run down the list. When he opened them he found that he had pointed out the word "journalism."

Subsequently he found a position on the Toronto Star and after a period of service on various American newspapers including the Atlanta Constitution and the New York World, he was sent by the World to Paris. From France he went to Morocco, Spain, Italy, Syria, Palestine, Russia, the Balkans, Ethiopia and Germany, whenever there was any trouble.

Steel Closing Lecturer

Johannes Steel, who speaks before the Forum on March 11, is well known for his radio program on Station WMCA, "The Truth Behind the News as I See It."

Just 30 years old, Mr. Steel has packed a great deal of activity into a small number of years. He was educated at Heidelberg, Geneva, and Oxford. He was formerly attached to the German Minister of Economics as economic observer abroad. He has traveled in Russia, China, Japan, all of Europe, as well as North America.

He has contributed to The Nation, Current History, Today, Contemporary Review, Esquire, and many other publications. He is author of "Hitler as Frankenstein," "Economic Possibilities in South America," "The Second World War," and "First Papers."

Steel's record as prognosticator of foreign events has been termed uncanny. He is credited with forecasts of many decisive European developments, including the Hitler Blood Purge, the murder of Chancellor Dolfuss, the elevation of Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, the Austrian Anschluss, and the absorption of Czechoslovakia.

The lectures are free to members of the Jewish Community Center Association. A nominal charge is made for non-members.

[Bringing Up Reinforcements for Paul A. Peters.]

Peters is a pacifist. He abhors destruction, devastation and the rage of world conflict. It might be said that he follows a policy of no heats, no ruins, no terrors. The only military command he has ever heeded is "Columists Right." And since, what with the current European scrap, a war column seems to be indicated, he has turned over the job to someone with a little more thirst for blood.

REVISED WAR LEXICON

Wars aren't fought any more like when we were a boy. Modern military and political strategy has tossed the accepted terminology into discard and given new meanings to old words. A revised vocabulary of warwords is the obvious need of the day. To get the thing started, we are happy to make the first contribution in a small way:

Aggression—An act committed by a weaker nation in withholding territory from a stronger power. (See also provocation.)

Blackout—The extinguishing of lights in a given city because the glare hurts the eyes of enemy aviators. Popular among the poor and among young lovers.

Democracy—A form of political administration which government heads systematically undermine for years by concessions to its enemies until they are dragged into war, whereupon they become its avowed chief defenders.

Encirclement (German)—The act of other nations in uniting to halt the natural expansion of a great nation. Not to be used to denote the surrounding of a weaker nation in pursuance of national destiny.

Front—A rapidly moving line denoting the point at which an invader's forces rest for the night.

Jews (German)—(1) During peacetime, a term of contempt and derogation applied to a scapegoat people marked for destruction; a parasitic people unable to do any useful work.

(2) During wartime, a term applied to compatriots useful as physicians, laborers, etc.; a people deserving of consideration as a military aid.

Living Room—(1) Whatever territory a nation wishes to annex.

(2) Parlor.

Neutrality—(1) What a small nation declares when it hates the guts of a belligerent but is scared to say so.

(2) What an axis nation declares when it wants to help an ally but wants to continue being able to buy supplies abroad.

(3) What a great overseas nation declares when it detests an invader but wants to keep out of the mess.

Non-Aggression—A pact signed as a preliminary to aggression.

Open City—A city which may contain military objectives, for all you know, so let's bomb it anyway, nicht wahr?

Torpedo (German)—An explosive missile which a Government fires into its own ships, killing its own subjects, with the obvious intent of gaining sympathy abroad.

War—(1) Armed conflict waged without declaration.

(2) Declaration accompanied by very little arm conflict.

WAR INVADES THE HOME

For those good souls who are trying to keep the European conflict away from our shores, I am unhappy to report that the war spirit has already invaded America in the form of military language. What with battle reports monopolizing our front pages and radio broadcasts, people these days conduct ordinary conversations like generals.

The other evening we were invited out to the home of friends for dinner. We walked across the threshold to find the house in complete darkness. The Mrs. greeted us with an apologetic smile.

"The children are having a blackout," she said. "But come, I'll lead you into the dining room."

Tripping over the umbrella stand, we asked with a little irritation: "Why don't you spank the kids and put the lights on?"

"Can't," she replied, feeling along the wall. "The children made the fuse-box a military objective and bombarded our power supply."

"Well, suppose I run down and buy a couple of fuses," we suggested.

"Sorry," said the Mrs., "The children have ruled that fuses are war supplies and will torpedo any transport attempting to land them."

We arrived, with bruised shins, in the dining room. Two dim candles lit the table. Trying to recover our usual amiability, we asked one of the children where the oldest son was.

"Oh, Bob's over at his girl friend's house executing a flanking movement," said the tot, and added quickly: "You'll have to excuse me. We are having general staff consultations in the bedroom," and he was gone.

We turned to Barbara, aged 7, who seemed to be removed from the hostilities. She was playing on the floor with some torn rags.

"What are you doing, Barbara?" we asked, with an effort at being pleasant.

"I'm in charge of the base hospital," she said curtly.

By this time our hostess had reappeared, a dim shadow in the doorway.

"You must be starved," she said. "Dinner will be served in a minute. Of course, you know the children are only allowing us to serve wartime rations." She gave an embarrassed laugh.

"Say, what is this?" we asked, with mounting anger. "Who runs this house?"

"Well, ordinarily we do," she replied. "But the children say they have deposed the civil government and instituted a military dictatorship."

We suddenly remembered a previous engagement and retreated . . . or, went downstairs, to a restaurant.

Zionists To Hear Frisch, Efroymson

With talks by Daniel Frisch and Dr. Clarence Efroymson on the program, the Indianapolis Zionist District will hold its first meeting of the fall season at 8 p. m., Monday, Oct. 2, in Kirshbaum Center.

Mr. Frisch will report on the World Zionist Congress in Geneva, Switzerland, which he attended, and Dr. Efroymson will relate his experiences in Palestine this past summer, when he lived and worked in several Jewish colonies. Following the meeting an open forum discussion will be held. The meeting is open to the public.

Nazis Call Professional Men For War Service

By PERCY WINNER

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency
RIGA, Latvia—Increasing indications were seen here of the German government's attempts to win the war-time support of German Jews.

Jewish physicians, pharmacists and engineers have been called up for special service in Berlin, it was reported.

The German Consul in Riga took the unprecedented step of voluntarily intervening to help a Jewish emigrant from the Reich to obtain a Lithuanian visa. The consul also invited several German Jews to return to the Reich, promising them work under favorable conditions.

(Orders have been given to Jews in Germany to report immediately for service in the civil air defense, according to the Berlin correspondent of the newspaper Berlingske Tidende of Copenhagen.)

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Goodman spent the holidays at Terre Haute as the house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Blumberg.

Mrs. Elli Mark has returned from Marion where she visited her mother, Mrs. Celia Klain.

The Editor's Chair:

This week with the holiday season almost over, you see printed in The Post quite a few New Year greetings. When first our New Year issue was planned, only 32 pages, 8 more than last year, were to be printed. The number was increased until finally, with printing time at hand, it rested at 48. When still more firms indicated their wish to extend season's greetings to Indiana Jewry, 8 more pages were added, 4 of which were placed in front and lettered A, B, C, D and the remaining 4 at the end of the magazine. Even this did not suffice, for with the deadline near, many greetings still could not be included. As a result we are printing them in this issue. I hope you readers will understand exactly what happened and accord to the advertisers the same good will and appreciation as if the felicitations had appeared last week.

The Jewish Post has employed Mrs. Helen Lederer as full time society editor, replacing Bernice Kaplan, who has returned to Indiana University. Mrs. Lederer is a refugee and has been here for some few months. Because of her unfamiliarity with names of Indianapolis Jewry she will from time to time make mistakes which may embarrass you readers. For instance, just this week she turned in an item saying Sid Asher went somewhere and something about the Zerinskys. The names should be, and were changed to, Sig Asher and Sereinsky. I hope you will be indulgent. Mrs. Lederer is competent in many respects, and will learn quickly. But unless you are patient and understanding, we will have to replace her. It is a simple request, and I know you'll cooperate.

A Community Council For Indianapolis Nearer

THE MOVE to enlarge the General Jewish Council into an organization truly representative of United States Jewry, and the plan to give to it definite powers to consolidate the forces of all national Jewish organizations, will finally sift down to the Jewish communities of the nation. Indianapolis then will be asked to form a community council, this paper believes.

When Rabbi Charry, a staunch supporter of such a council, was asked to write the article, "The American Jewish Community Comes of Age" for our New Year issue last week, prominent members of Indianapolis Jewry were solicited for an article on the opposite side of the question. This paper was able to find no one here who would oppose the formation of a Jewish community council.

Indeed, when H. Joseph Hyman, executive director of The Jewish Welfare Federation was asked to read over his article, "How Indianapolis Cares For Its Social Service Obligations," he appended the following sentences, which because Mr. Hyman was away on his vacation, arrived too late to be included. They said: "The Public Relations committee representing important national civic-protective agencies is to co-operate with the General Jewish Council. This is the first step toward giving the Jewish Federation the additional functions of a Jewish Community Council."

Even the Federation then is agreed that Indianapolis should eventually have a community council. The new move on a national scale should hasten this process. However, a word of caution, if The Federation is being transformed, gradually or immediately, into a community council, to speak for Indianapolis Jewry, then Indianapolis Jewry should be so informed. Not casually either. A public announcement stating the exact arrangement, the exact powers and the exact representation should be made. In fact, the entire set-up should be presented to the community for approval. A community council for Indianapolis Jewry could be the most benign in the world, but unless it is democratic, and represents the will of the people, it will be an artificial accretion to one of the finest Jewish communities in the nation which will eventually wither of its own lack of vitality and fall apart.

Current Comment

Z. Tygel Congratulates General Jewish Council On Move To Implement Unity.—According to newspaper reports, the General Jewish Council has issued a call for a conference of Jewish organizations at an early date to deal with the current situation. This is certainly good news. It would indicate that the Council, hitherto functioning in camera on the premise, apparently, that its purpose was merely to co-ordinate the thoughts of its four constituent bodies, has finally taken a far-reaching step to consult with other Jewish organizations with regard to some program of action demanded by the critical problems of the present historical moment.

I hear, also that the American Jewish Congress intends to make the following two proposals to the conference: (1) that one committee be created representing all the organizations devoted to the defense of Jewish interests from a moral and political standpoint, and (2) another committee be created representing all the organizations engaged in fund raising for overseas relief. To these two proposals, I subscribe wholeheartedly and without reservation. Such a step-up is urgently needed in Jewish affairs, particularly at this time.

United Jewish action is the crying need of the hour. And it is precisely because I am so profoundly convinced of this that I want to raise my voice again in warning against any attempt to create such unity without building it on the solid foundation of American Jewry as a whole. Unless this will be the guiding principle of the forthcoming conference, I am afraid the splendid proposals of the American Jewish Congress will die aborning.

The failure hitherto to create the long promised unity of American Jewry has been explained by certain well-meaning members of the General Jewish Council, who argued along these lines: unity is a fine thing, a necessity, but it is not so easy of attainment—it must take much time and patience—the very fact that the four leading Jewish bodies have finally come together in a joint effort to strive for unity is in itself a great achievement and their discussions up to now, even though limited to co-ordinating their thoughts, have already brought good results. Furthermore, these people argue, if the existence and influence of the General Jewish Council will serve to prevent at the conference on refugees which President Roosevelt has proposed to hold in Washington a repetition of what occurred at the Evian Conference, when thirty Jewish organizations appeared, then the Council will have justified its existence—particularly since some of its committees, notably the Law Committee, have admittedly performed important practical work. Unity of action, these people contend, is not something that can be achieved in a brief space of time.

These arguments do not impress me. But granting even that they are right, I still maintain that in a time of crisis, such as faces us today, we cannot permit the slow processes of national civic-protective agencies is to co-operate with the General Jewish Council. This is the first step toward giving the Jewish Federation the additional functions of a Jewish Community Council."

normal social activity to operate. Emergency situations require emergency measures, an acceleration of tempo in accordance with the rushing tide of events. Against such a tragic condition as exists in Jewish life today no apologies, no matter how logical in theory, will hold.

A Non-Jew Puts Into Poetry The Silly Rumors About The Jews For The B'nai B'rith Messenger:

What great wrong have they done to you
I asked a Damner of the Jew.
His answer was, don't you hear people say
They control everything in the U. S. A.

He said his dislike for them is innate.
But that's wrong, it's an evil habit they cultivate,
And the stories they tell are so foolish they're funny

When they say the Jews have all the money.

Is Henry Ford, John D. or Mellon a Jew?
Chrysler, Raskob, Schwab, Marshall Field, only a few

Of the Gentiles who have most of our gold
All our great industries are Gentile controlled.

And when you speak of Bankers and Banks
You will find but three Hebrews away up in the ranks,

The European Rothschild, Loeb, and Kuhn,
And where have you read they caused any ruin?

Does Morgan, Giannini, Lamont, Chase or Sloan
Knock off the interest when they o. k. your loan?
And who are the makers of powder and shot?
If the DuPonts are Jewish, then Moses was not.

And this is another wrong, biased bleat,
When they yell about Jews controlling our meat
Cudahy, Armour, Wilson, Libby, McNeill,
Swift, Morris, Hammond no Jewish blood reveal.

List up the stockholder in the chain grocery store
You will find to one Jew, Gentiles by the score.
There isn't much left for the Jew, it would seem
He may control some textiles, and have a voice in the screen.

And now for Religion, the Good Books all say
That we would be heathens, but for a Jew named Isaiah

And what were Matthew, Mark, Luke, John, and Paul,

The Prophets and Apostles were Jews, one, and all.

There are good and bad in every creed and race
And the good Jews try to keep the bad in their place.

Sixteen million Jews is all, in all this great sphere
And only a damn coward, that minority would fear

You know this is all true, but I must explain
That my father is from Ireland, mother's people from Spain

Which leaves me all Gentile, and proud to express my views

On the decency and good fellowship of most all the Jews.

Sigma Phi Upsilon

Special BLOOMINGTON, Ind.—Eight neophytes were wearing the pledge pin of Sigma Phi Upsilon, Jewish sorority on the campus here, this week. They are Sylvia Epstein, Betty Bell Helman, Patricia Jackson and Ruth Weil, Indianapolis; Geraldine Levine, Aurora; Jean Roskin, Marion; Evelyn Slung, Seymour, and Rose Steiber, Ft. Wayne.

Sigma Alpha Mu

Special BLOOMINGTON, Ind.—Bringing the chapter to almost its largest size in years, Sigma Alpha Mu here pledged 16 men, it was announced officially. They are: Sol Blickman, Joe Barrett and Arnold Marks, Indianapolis; Ben Richter, Gary; Sam Levy, Indiana Harbor; Sam New, South Bend; Ben May, St. Louis, Mo.; Sherman Weinstein, Fort Wayne; Shelly Wagner, Fort Wayne; Mose Gross, Petersburg; Marvin Snyder, Winslow; Matt Kane, Boston, Mass.; Lou Fehr, Marion; Al Williams, Chicago; Lester Shaikum, Greensburg, Ky., and Bob Nerenberg, Kokomo.

Tau Epsilon Phi

Special LAFAYETTE, Ind.—Having lost only five men through graduation last year, Tau Epsilon Phi begins this year with excellent prospects.

Although the school year has just begun, we have already pledged seven new men, and it looks like a grand year for the freshmen.

The new men are Norman Applebaum of New York City, out for freshman football; Mitchel Bradie of New York City, out for the pistol and rifle teams; Al Katz of South Bend, fencing and debating; Arthur Brownstein of New York City, who was out for freshman football, but was injured in practice and is now recuperating; Elias A. Lipchak of New York City, who plans on making "Playshop" and debating team; Robert Levine of Hartford, Conn., who intends to go out for tennis and the pistol team; Alan Arkin of Chicago, who hopes to make the "Zouaves" and also the freshman fencing team. In addition, Isadore Swedarsky is back with us this year. "Swede" has his eye on the track team this year.

Three days ago, in the first practice softball game of the year, we defeated the Phi Gams. If we keep this up, T. E. P. will go far in softball this season.

Hyman Greenblatt won the Julius M. Breitenbach scholarship award. This award is given to that senior of Tau Epsilon Phi who has the highest scholastic index of the year. Winning this award is quite an honor, as all the seniors of T. E. P. in every chapter were after this scholarship.

Isadore Soloff is fencing with the varsity again, and is planning on going on several trips to different schools with the team.

Bob Shanhouse, who plays center on the football team, is all swelled up with pride these days. The reason is that he stands a good chance of playing in the Purdue-Notre Dame game.

Jerry Fisher was appointed the new rush chairman. Bob Shanhouse and Maury Bernhard are our social committee chairmen.
